Organisation Overview

GHD is one of the world’s leading engineering, architecture and environmental consulting companies. Wholly owned by its people, GHD is focused exclusively on client success. Our network of over 10,000 professionals collaborate to deliver sustainable outcomes for communities and clients in the global markets of energy and resources, water, environment, property and buildings, and transportation.

GHD’s Advisory group provides a range of professional services to support improvements to the efficiency and effectiveness of infrastructure and service provision. Our experienced consultants include economists, policy and regulatory advisors, commercial and management professionals with specific understanding of infrastructure. Our clients include regulators and suppliers, government and private enterprises, and industry.

Facilitator Profile

Amber, a Principal and Leader of GHD’s Economics and Policy Group, has delivered a range of complex and sensitive infrastructure projects for public and private sector clients. She brings a technical background in planning and evaluation, and is passionate about helping clients to employ systems based thinking to understand complex problems and identify holistic responses that maximise desired benefits. Amber has extensive experience delivering business cases for large scale capital infrastructure ranging from bridges, corridors and precinct developments through to complex masterplans, tourism developments, and major energy and water infrastructure. Amber brings practical experience in adaptive investment pathway planning, helping clients to evaluate future scenarios and identify optimum investment pathways that minimise risk and inform capital prioritisation.
